The Palliative Journey

The Palliative Care journey is not linear, and every family's experience is unique. The duration and interaction with services vary greatly depending on each individual child's circumstances and needs. Our website helps you navigate this journey with a simple model known as the Palliative Journey, based on the Together for Short Lives framework.

On our site, you can navigate through information about the different stages of the Palliative Care journey, including diagnosis, caring and support, transition care, end-of-life care and bereavement. Each section has been carefully curated by professionals and contains links to relevant resources, services and further information.
